DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This is an unusual, large building that was undoubtedly someone's estate in the early 20th Century. It sits at the end of a very long drive. The house was probably built of brick or block and is covered with stucco. It is a two-story, seven-bay structure, with a low hip roof that faces north. There is a port-cochere in the rear center, and three dormers in the roof here. There are a number of smaller additions and several out-buildings are nearby.

This was part of the Bryan farm in the 19th Century. Would be interesting to know whose estate this was in this century.
